THE STORY OF THE SURAH

A Strange Offer

Some people in Makkah worshipped idols. They came to the Prophet with a deal.

“Worship our idols for one year, and we will worship Allah for one year!” they said.

The Prophet could never say yes to this.

THE STORY OF THE SURAH

Allah Says, "Say No!"

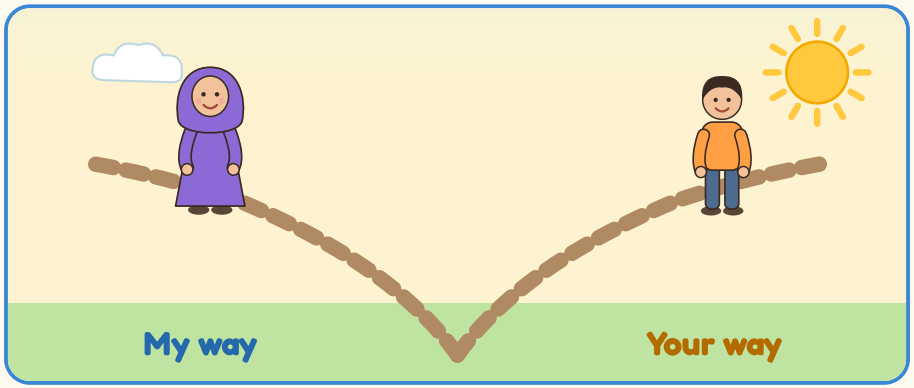

So Allah sent this surah. Allah told the Prophet what to say: "I do not worship what you worship."

The Prophet would never worship idols, and he would never follow their way of worship.

THE STORY OF THE SURAH

Your Way, My Way

The surah ends with: “You have your way, and I have mine.”

We stand up for what we believe. We do not do something wrong just to be accepted. We stay kind and polite to everyone.

Think about it: When is it hard to say “no, thank you” to a friend?

For grown-ups: from The Clear Quran for Kids (reported by Imam At-Tabarani), simplified for little readers.

Is this what Surah Al-Kafirun teaches?

2. Do wrong things to be accepted.
3. We worship Allah alone.
4. We can be polite to people who believe differently.

MAKE-BELIEVE STORY

Sami Says "No, Thank You"

Sami's friends found a jar of cookies. "Let's take extra, without asking!" they said. "Everyone does it!"

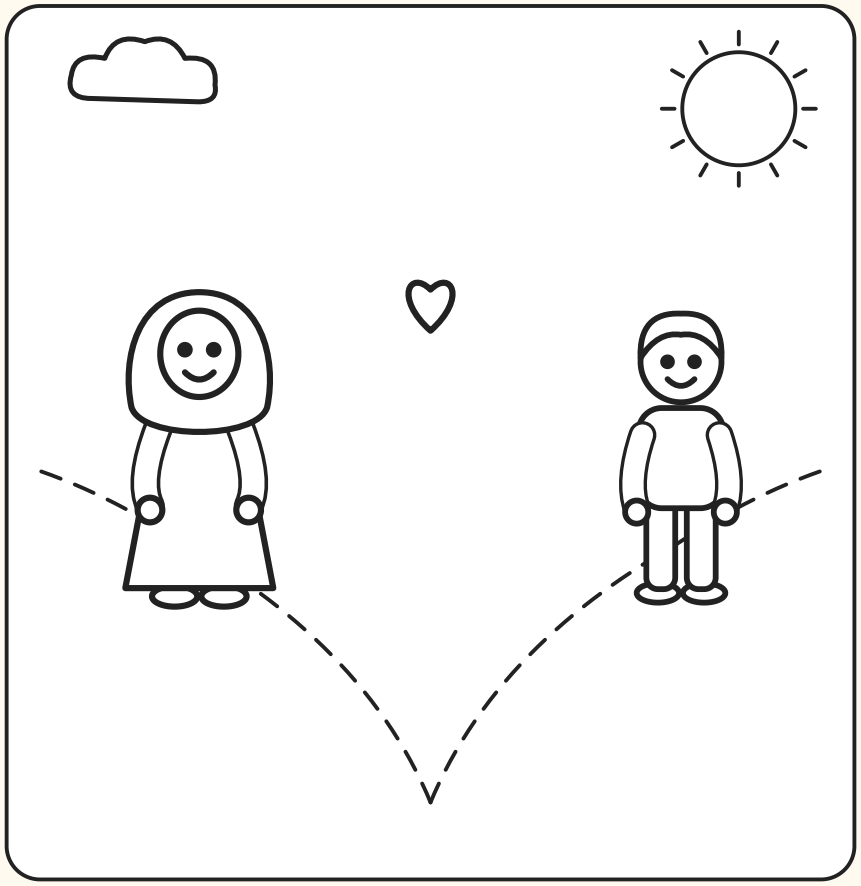

Sami thought for a moment. "No, thank you," he said kindly. "I will ask first."

His friends were surprised. But Sami stayed friendly, and he asked the grown-up. She gave each of them one cookie, and Sami felt proud.

Talk about it: Sami stayed true to what is right, and he stayed kind. When is it hard to say "no, thank you"? What can you say?
